

Searching for a Living Kidney Donor

Presenter: Harvey Myssel, a two-time kidney transplant recipient, both from living donors

Key points:

1. How to develop your story
2. How to tell your story
3. How to get others to share your story

About the presenter: Harvey Myssel is a two-time kidney transplant recipient. After proactively managing an inherited kidney condition, PKD (Polycystic Kidney Disease) for over 20 years he was fortunate that his wife Amy was a compatible donor. As a result of what Harvey learned, he started LKDN, a non-profit 501(c)3 organization established in 2007. LKDN primary mission is to educate people in need of a kidney transplant about living kidney donation and help them communicate their need to family members and friends. LKDN also has programs that educates the public about the need for living kidney donors.
